

John Hayes

John is the Vice President, Risk Management for Ingram Industries Inc. in Nashville, TN. Ingram Industries Inc. is a privately held corporation engaged in wholesale distribution, print on demand and digital fulfillment of books and related products as well as inland marine transportation. John oversees the global risk management function for the company.

John's education includes a Bachelors degree from the University of Memphis in Risk Management and Insurance and a Master's degree in Business Administration from Belmont University.